and pass the bill. This will mean, say the legally wise ones about the city hall, that the money spent upon the advertising and printing of the bill will be money wasted.

The mayor's message dealing with the measure and giving his reasons for turning down the ordinance in such a summary fashion is said to be a stinger for backers of the bill, which measure, declares His Honor, it is said, deals injustice to the weak and more than justice to the strong. He also asserts the burdens imposed by the bill will affect the smaller plumbers, the journeymen and the men who have not capital to back them, as well as the foreigners who are making their living by the trade.

Still another reason, according to the Mayor, is that he does not "know what the incoming board will do with the ordinance." He points out that the measure will not become operative until March, or two months or more after the new board has assumed office, and hints that the body may "throw it out before it has a chance to become operative," bringing additional expense upon the county for nothing.

Fern intimates that he will veto any further appropriation bill that may come before him. He has refused to approve ordinance No. 764, appropriating some $4510 for road work, saying that the work will have to be done under the incoming board and that as a matter of principle, he prefers allowing that body to make the necessary appropriations.

not more than two years and a fine for smuggling. The suspicion that Smith is a secret service agent in the government's employ undoubtedly will be dissipated if he pleads guilty and takes a sentence of several months or a year's servitude in prison, but the doubt as to his real motives will remain if he gets only a fine.

WORK ON REVISION OF THE TARIFF SCHEDULES HAS BEGUN

By C. S. ALBERT

(Special Star-Bulletin Correspondence)
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 12.—The initial step toward revising the Payne-Aldrich tariff act has been taken. The Ways and Means Committee has held a meeting at which it was determined to take up the work schedule. It will proceed, as Chairman Underwood announced from Agate to Zine.

All those interested in tariff matters will have the opportunity to appear before the Ways and Means committee and express their views. The hearing of all factions and faiths will begin January 6. It is proposed to devote every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, in that month to these hearings. It is believed they can be concluded by the first part of February. The framing of various measures will then be taken up. It is hoped to have a list of tariff bills ready for pushing through the House when the extraordinary session is called.

Underwood in a Hurry.
Chairman Underwood is praying that the extraordinary session be called for March 10. Governor Wilson has indicated that it will be during April, but not mentioning the precise date. A movement is in progress to have the date advanced. This is done for the double purpose of manifesting unusual promptness and affording a fairly good rest following an expected early adjournment.

The first hearing on January 6 will be of Schedule A, fixing the duties on chemicals, oils, and paints, including medicinal preparations containing alcohol, or in whose preparation alcohol is used, perfumery, medicated soaps, and similar articles. Then will follow, on January 8, the hearing on the earths, earthenware and glassware schedule, including tiles, china, porcelain, crockery, spectacles, marble and onyx, and grindstone.

Schedule of Hearing.
The sequence of the other schedules in this Monday, Wednesday, and Friday program follows:

Schedule C, metals and manufactures; D, wood and manufactures; E, sugar, molasses, and manufactures; G, Agricultural products and provisions; H, spirits, wines, and other beverages; I, cotton manufactures; J, flax, hemp, and jute, and other manufactures; K, wool and manufactures; L, silks and silk goods; M, pulp, papers, and books; N, sundries, beads, buttons, brushes, coal, bark, dolls, chains, gloves, paintings, plovski umbrellas and parasols, etc.

One day at the end of January will be set aside for a hearing of those interested in the free list and the administrative features of the proposed tariff legislation.

Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee frankly admit they are up a tree regarding the sugar schedule. They do not expect that sugar can be placed on the free list, as provided in the bill passed by the House last session. They know many Democratic Senators are extremely conservative on the sugar question. They realize that at the last the schedule must be written in the Senate and accepted by the House to make perfected legislation.

Nothing Definite Yet.
No conclusion has been reached as to how far the Ways and Means committee will go in the direction of reducing sugar duties. They may duplicate the free list bill, of last session. They may make a good, round cut and leave the Senate to boost it upward.

Democratic Senators admit they will be unable to secure the passage of a free sugar bill. They say that a reduction of from 25 to 33 1-3 per cent will be the limit of modification. Senator Williams, a member of the Finance Committee asserts positively he will not consent to a greater reduction than 33 1-3 per cent.

Signs multiply that when the House and Senate Democrats get down to the actual business of revising the tariff they will go at the task much less vigorously than they talked about in the campaign.

Soup To Cool.
No chef ever serves soup as hot as he cooks it," remarked a prominent Democratic leader at the Capitol the other day. This doctrine apparently is to be applied to tariff revision, as it is to some other phases of legislation when the Democrats get into power. That is to say, it will be thus applied if a large conservative element among the Democrats in both houses can force the application. It will not be so applied if the more radical Democratic leaders have their way.

A powerful element of the Democrats in both Senate and House unquestionably is working for a tariff that will be reduced in name only. If Mr. Wilson, as President, refuses to consent to a revision that is not real, that does not cut some of the schedules radically, it is impossible to see how a clash between him and the men of the Gorman view on tariff can be avoided.

That Wilson will insist on applying the knife vigorously to the schedules is the general impression in Washington.

MUSIC SMOTE HARSHLY THERE

Melody from a well-seasoned and time-honored guitar smote harshly upon the ears of Mrs. Johnson, an Hawaiian woman, who figured as a defendant in an assault and battery case wherein a neighbor demanded redress.

The gladsome Christmas wave of joyousness reached the outer limits of Kalihi, thereby engulfing the Johnson habitation.

District Magistrate Monsarrat was told this morning that the Johnson neighbors proved rather promiscuous in their wanderings and attentions. Trouble in large quantities soon loomed upon the otherwise fair horizon.

The Johnson home was visited by a man armed with a thick-tongued voice and a guitar. He began to chant airs that caused the fowls of the air to cease their warbling and the household pets to seek a more safe, sane and conservative district.

The Hawaiian youth was asked to leave the house. He demanded a sample from a well-filled bottle of gin.

First securing the drink, the fellow is alleged to have gotten too gay to satisfy the ideas of propriety held by other members of the household.

A melee was soon started in which the youth was heaved through an open window and the guitar reduced to a mass of fragments, which shattered melody-maker was introduced as evidence this morning.

The court took notice of a train of mitigating circumstances, with the result that Mrs. Johnson was released, while the complainants were plainly told to cease inflicting too subtle a tinkle of a sadly-tuned guitar upon a defenseless and unwilling populace.

Ed Miller, charged with speeding his auto, decided that he would carry the case to a higher court rather than settle a fine of five dollars. He may get his later if Special Officer Chilton can prove his allegations.

J. C. Nunes is an auto driver who it is declared exceeded the speed limit and also announced that it was the circuit court for him.

David Kaohu was alleged by his wife to have behaved in a rather riotous manner on the eve following the celebration of Christmas.

A lecture from the bench is believed to have served a good purpose in that it will assist in harmonizing the erstwhile factions in the Kaohu household.

Officer Kellett and men in the detective department sallied forth along Hotel and Beretania streets last evening and their ears were soon greeted with the click of rolling dice and the jingle of falling coin. A raid of a Chinese lodging house brought to light a dozen men who are charged with gambling. The crowd, through counsel asked for more time in which to plead.

Deputy Chief of Detectives Kellett, has booked a charge of being unlawfully upon the premises of another, against E. T. Tannenbaum, who is held at the station pending an investigation. It is alleged that Tannenbaum entered the office of the Mutual Telephone Company and made away with some cash. The story told Kellett is to the effect that the day operator in closing the office found Tannenbaum hanging around. She claims that she was watched while secreting the key to the cash drawer.

Treasure hunters are all agog over some new information in connection with the $34,000 in gold dust supposed to have been buried in champagne bottles in Trinity county, California, in 1852.

The Denver Chamber of Commerce has inaugurated a campaign to have a western man appointed secretary of the interior in Wilson's cabinet. No individual is named.

NEW YEAR'S RACES HAVE CLASSY ENTRIES

Final arrangements for the New Year's race meeting were completed this afternoon, when the committee in charge of the various events got together to classify the entry list, which closed at noon today. "Class" is predominant, and the races should be well worth seeing, if one can judge by the animals that will compete.

The cups and purses aggregate $2,230, and enough money has been guaranteed to cover this amount. If good weather prevails and the public gives the meeting the patronage that it deserves, there should be a good balance on the right side of the ledger, and this amount will be put back into the meeting to be held at the time of the floral carnival.

Reserved seats and auto parking spaces are now on sale at M. A. Gunst & Co. There are only fifty auto reservations, so those who wish to attend the meeting in their cars and is assured an unobstructed view of the course had better lose no time in making reservations. The first two rows of the grand stand are reserved, by sections, not by seats, so those who get in first will secure the preferred positions in the front row. Every one who buys in the reserved section, is sure of a good seat, though, for the number of tickets will be strictly limited to the number of seats, with no over crowding.

Following is the final arrangement of the program:

Morning Races.
No. 1, 1/2 mile, Hawaiian bred, $150.
No. 2, 3/4 mile, free for all, $200.
No. 3, 3/4 mile, Japanese owners, $100.

NEWS OF FREAR

was not more than a few hours in length.

Before leaving home they had contemplated remaining at Midway several days, at the least. It is the only one of the group on which human beings exist and where human existence is really endurable. The Governor and Lindsay, before starting on this journey, had many vivid dreams of the long hours of uninterrupted golf-playing in which they would indulge. Apparently, they have suddenly decided to forego this great pleasure. Their friends now are asking what has caused the change in plans.

It is thought the four scientists, booked for Laysan Island, where they intend murdering all the rabbits they can find, are still aboard the Thetis and will embark on the return run. With the present prevailing winds the vessel will not travel as rapidly homeward bound as on the outward trip, and she is not expected to appear in Honolulu harbor before January 8 or 10 at the earliest.

RACE OF GIANTS ON PACIFIC SLOPE

Skeleton Remains of Ancient Inhabitants Found in Santa Clara

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 17.—Digging in mounds about two miles south of here, has led to the discovery of several skeletons of men, all of which measured over 6 feet. The investigations have been carried on for some time by Professor Harold Heath of the zoology department, and these discoveries, in connection with others, seem to corroborate the fact that the entire peninsula, as far north as San Francisco, was once inhabited by a race of giants.

Interesting instruments and ornaments found in the ruins indicate that the people attained a proficient degree in artisanship. Bone needles and awls, mortars and hammers, some of which were polished to a high degree, have been found, and the best specimens placed on exhibit in the Stanford museum, together with a skeleton in an excellent state of preservation.

While the inhabitants were large and strong, they apparently were not of a warlike nature, and seem to have been very lazy. Their principal means of livelihood was hunting and fishing. In burying, they interred their dead very near the surface, and covered the bodies with refuse.

Mrs. Betsy Storey of Carmel, Ill., celebrated her hundredth anniversary amid 300 friends gathered at her farm. She has never ridden on a train or worn a corset, but her happiness is dependent on her pipe, which she smokes daily.

Young Man:

You must wear clothing during 1913 as was customary during 1912. Our stock has not been depleted in the least by the heavy trade of the last few weeks. Our goods keep coming right along.

Many a young man gets a benefit from good clothes that's much greater than the cost of them. We're working along that idea every day in the year and have produced in Honolulu for young men the styles and models that will give them the greatest measure of smart fashion, with the highest degree of quality-value, and without going to such style extremes as to undo the good that such clothes can do.

Youthful models, youthful colors and patterns, youthful weaves; designed and cut by special young men's experts; sizes for the big, brawny football athlete or for the small and lively "rooter."
